DETAILED ACTION

Election/Restriction

1. Restriction to one of the following inventions is required under 35 U.S.C. 121:
 - I. Claims 1-44, 67 drawn to a cardiac stimulus device and lead, classified in class 600, subclass 372.
 - II. Claims 45-66, drawn to a pacing method, classified in class 607, subclass 9.
2. The inventions are distinct, each from the other because of the following reasons:

Inventions I and II are related as process and apparatus for its practice. The inventions are distinct if it can be shown that either: (1) the process as claimed can be practiced by another materially different apparatus or by hand, or (2) the apparatus as claimed can be used to practice another and materially different process. (MPEP § 806.05(e)). In this case the process can be practiced by another materially different apparatus not requiring a multiplexer switch.
3. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and the search required for Group I is not required for Group II, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.
4. Because these inventions are distinct for the reasons given above and have acquired a separate status in the art as shown by their different classification, restriction for examination purposes as indicated is proper.

Art Unit: 3762

5. During a telephone conversation with Marvin L. Beekman on 1/23/04 a provisional election was made without traverse to prosecute the invention of Group I, claims 1-44 and 67. Affirmation of this election must be made by applicant in replying to this Office action. Claims 45-66 are withdrawn from further consideration by the examiner, 37 CFR 1.142(b), as being drawn to a non-elected invention.

6. Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 102

7. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

(e) the invention was described in-

(1) an application for patent, published under section 122(b), by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a) shall have the effect under this subsection of a national application published under section 122(b) only if the international application designating the United States was published under Article 21(2)(a) of such treaty in the English language; or

(2) a patent granted on an application for patent by another filed in the United States before the invention by the applicant for patent, except that a patent shall not be deemed filed in the United States for the purposes of this subsection based on the filing of an international application filed under the treaty defined in section 351(a).

8. Claims 1-4, 10, 11, 17, 18, 21, 22, 29, 30, 35, 36, 42, 43, 44 and 67 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being clearly anticipated by Weijand et al '135.

Art Unit: 3762

Weijand et al disclose a cardiac stimulus lead 32 and a multiplexer switch arrangement within block 35 and a sensing circuit comprising piezoelectric element 46.

Claim Rejections - 35 U.S.C. § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

9. Claims 1, 5-9, 12-16, 19, 20, 23-28, 31, 32-35 and 37-41 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Weijand et al '135.

Weijand et al show all of the claimed features except for a capacitor, a sensor capable of sensing biochemicals or temperature, and a timer in the lead.

Weijand et al show the capacitor and timing logic and control structure in pacer 30. One of ordinary skill in the art would have found it an obvious to include these elements in the lead because they are integral parts of the pacing system as shown in Figs. 1 and 2, and by incorporating them in the lead, the electrical conductive distance is minimized which improves lead reliability. See col. 1, lines 42-46.

Art Unit: 3762

Weijand et al design specifically for pressure sensing; however, one of ordinary skill in the art would have found it obvious to sense for biochemicals or temperature because col. 1, lines 19-22 teach pacemakers may incorporate a sensor for monitoring respiration, pH, oxygen, etc. Since temperature and biochemicals are similar metabolic constituents, their monitoring would be obvious.
